

SEBASTIAN PAGENKEMPER

Project Manager | Grünlandzentrum

Sebastian Pagenkemper is a project manager at the centre for grassland Lower Saxony/Bremen e.V. (Grünlandzentrum Niedersachsen/Bremen e.V. - GLZ). The work of the centre for grassland is based on valuing grassland, developing opportunities, and driving solutions forward. For the projects, they are focusing on the development of innovative concepts for a sustainable agriculture on grassland. Sebastian brings his practical and scientific background gained during his time as a doctoral student and work as an agricultural advisor. "How green is your grass?" is a great way to talk about a project where the grass was anything but green, where mice destroyed thousands of hectares in the number one dairy country and from which a pilot project for grassland monitoring resulted.
