

DHI Gras | Rasmus Eskerod Borgstrøm

Biography

Rasmus is managing director and responsible for the strategic direction, business development and leadership of the curious and dedicated team of experts at DHI GRAS, who has more than 20 years of experience within satellite remote sensing. He is passionate about creating innovative ways of extracting information from satellite imagery and keen on identifying new applications and users of satellite imagery.

Rasmus is highly experienced in remote sensing and holds a strong network within the earth observation field, always keeping an eye out for new data sources and technologies.